

Delaware OSHA Consultation is open for business amid COVID-19

Our hearts go out to those impacted by the coronavirus (COVID-19). This is a very challenging time for all of us. In an attempt to assist our new and existing clients, we are offering virtual services.

- Virtual consultation visits. While our on-site operations may have been curtailed, we are still readily available to assist you. Our program is migrating to a virtual platform in the interim. To better serve you, we are available via video conferencing, email, and phone. We are able to perform virtual hazard recognition sessions along with virtual training of your staff. Contact us to learn more.
- Safety and Health Program Review. Let us review your safety and health program(s) in light of the current pandemic. Effective programs stand as the backbone to any good company safety and health management program. Now is the time to have those programs reviewed by a professional. Contact us to learn more.
- Pandemic Response Policy. Consider letting us help you to develop an infectious disease preparedness and response plan to help guide protective actions against COVID-19. Contact us to find out what needs to be included in your plan and to receive a COVID-19 Policy template for use at your business. Contact us to learn more.

We know this is an unprecedented time for everyone. Many of you are essential and bravely doing your part to provide goods and services so the rest of us can stay home and help keep the virus contained. Let us help you continue to make your workplace safe and healthy for your employees. Be safe and engaged during these difficult times.

Please contact us at 302-451-3421 with your safety and health concerns.

Traci Fraley, Administrator
Delaware OSHA Consultation Program